A gray tom paced back and forth throughout the dark night. Suddenly a pretty silver she-cat waked out into the stream of light that was caused by the bright moon up in the midnight sky."finally" said the gray tom, "you may go and see her now Ashstar" said the silver she-cat. "Thank you Echopool" Ashstar said as he stared padding into the nursery that was filled with tiny meows. Ashstar looked down to see four kits."I have decided names for them,the gray and white one is Hazelkit, the light orange one is Honeykit, the Siamese one is Smokekit, and the blue one is Dawnkit"said Ashstar's mate Heathercloud said."Smokekit looks like a Breezeclan cat, I was thinking since your brother's mate only has one kit you could give him Smokekit" she said. "Alright I will take him there" Ashstar said as he picked up the up, and started walking out of the nursery. "Be careful Ashstar" she meowed after him. Ashstar walked over the border into the windy moor. Finally he arrived at the camp he went to the secret entrance he used a long time ago. He poked his head in to see if his brother's nest was still. He tapped his brother he awake with a start. Ashstar took his head of the hole and waited for his brother to come out a figure leaped at him, and pinned him to the ground. "What are doing here" hissed his brother Blizzardfang. "Blizzardfang take it easy it's me your brother, Ashstar" he said."Ashstar what are doing here"? He asked. "If you'd get off me I'd be glad to tell you"he said. Blizzardfang got off, Ashstar turned around and walked over to where he put the kit, he pushed it to Blizzardfang. "This kit looks like a Breezeclan cat, and since you only have one kit I thought that you could take Smokekit in" Ashstar said."Blizzardfang sighed"alright". Blizzardfang picked up the kit and headed towards the nursery. "Thank you bother, you know I miss the old days you know me, you, and night against the world" Ashstar meowed after him, but Blizzard fang did not respond he just turned around, and looked at his brother with sadness in his eyes then turned around, and kept walking.

Chapter 1

"Come on" squealed a tiny kit "what are you waiting for its our first time outside of the nursery today". "First you need to clean you nests" meowed a calm and gentle voice. "Alright mom, can we go now" asked another kit."okay, but be careful, and don't get into any cats way you got, and definitely don't go outside of camp, you got all of that"meowed the mother. "Yes mom" they all meowed at one. The three kits raced out of the nursery into a clearing of cats. "What should we see first" meowed one. "Let's go climb the high rock" meowed another. "But Hazelkit won't we get in trouble if we do that" meowed one. "Of course not Honeykit, because we are the leaders kits right, so we can go on there as long as no cat sees us and well most cats are out patrolling, and some of the cats are here, but they will never notice" replied Hazelkit.
The three kits raced to the high rock. "Hazelkit, Dawnkit wait for me" Meowed Honeykit.

The kits finally managed to climb up the high rock. "I can see everything from here" meowed Hazelkit. A yowl sounded from below "kits, it's time to come in now the" yowled their mother. "Dang it, I hate when we have to go to bed early, because they have to have a meeting" meowed Honeykit. The kits climbed down from the high rock and padded to their nest, and slept.

Dawnkit woke up in a forest the air was filled with happiness, and there was all kids of prey around. Dawnkit spotted a she-cat with orange ears, orange paws, and orange tail padding towards her. Was the she-cat got closer Dawnkit could see tiny glowing stars around her body. "Welcome to Starclan young Dawnkit, I am Leafshine a spirit of Starclan" meowed Leafshine. "Am I dead" asked Dawnkit? "Of course not, your needed for something important" meowed Leafshine.

5 moons later

"I can't believe we are becoming apprentices today" said Hazelkit as she bounced up and down cheerfully. "I know it's so existing" Honeykit added. "Now remember not to get your fur ruffled, I want you to look amazing when you go out there" there mother said then a gray cat walked out from the leaders den onto the high rock he flicked his tail signaling the crowd to be silent. "I have to announce three new apprentices today, Honeykit, Hazelkit, and Dawnkit please step toward". The three kits walked up to the high rock. "Honeykit from this moment and on you will be known as Honeypaw your mentor will be Rosepetal". Rosepetal walked up to Honeypaw, and touched noses with her. "Hazelkit from this moment on you will be known as Hazelpaw your mentor will be Brakenthorn. Brackenthorn walked up to Hazelpaw and did the same thing Rosepetal did. "And lastly Dawnkit from this moment on you will be known as Dawnpaw, your mentor will be Foxfur. Foxfur walked up to Dawnpaw with excitement to be a mentor I her eyes. "The meting is dismissed" meowed Ashstar.

Chapter 3

"Alright follow us to the training area" meowed Dawnpaw's mentor. After a while of walking through the green forest they arrived at the river that separates waterclan, and lightningclan, than they arrived at the waterfall where a sandy area was. "Alright you've now seen all of the territories, so now it's time to practice hunting" meowed Rosetail. Dawnpaw crouched down following in her instructions, she walked forward slowly.

"Great job Dawnpaw" a voice said behind her. She looked behind her to see Brambleheart standing behind her watching how well she did. Her sisters came padding towards her with excitement in their eyes. "We get to try hunting" Honeypaw said sounding a bit excited. "Yes, but be sure to remember everything we told you" Foxfur said as she walked up to them.

After hearing what their mentors had to say they ran out in the forest. Dawnpaw ran off to the middle of the forest where the prey is richest, as her father told her. She stopped as she caught the scent of a mouse she crouched down and walked forward slowly, and quietly. After she got a tail length away from it she leaped on top of it, and killed it easily.

Dawnpaw walked back proudly caring her mouse with her tail held up high. Her mentor walked up to her and congratulated her for her catch. Soon later her sisters came back with no prey, but Honeypaw said she was very close to catching a squirrel. They started to walk back to camp as the sun started to set.

On her way from walking back she caught a scent of rabbit she dropped her prey, and half buried it, before walked off to fin the rabbit. She soon came across it, it was rare to find rabbits in the forest, but it usually meant a Breezeclan cat chased into their territory. She crouched down and stalked she can closer, and closer she was ready to spring, but a twig cracked beneath her paw the rabbit spray and started to run she chased after it she was so close to it she leaped and killed it.

She walked back to the training area with the rabbit, and the mouse she caught. Once she arrived she saw her sisters had caught no prey at all. Suddenly Dawnpaw felt bad she didn't want to show off. Foxfur saw Dawnpaw "well done my apprentice" she purred looking happy at what I caught. I walked up to them, and dropped my prey I caught "what's next" she asked excited, and ready to,learn something. "We have to get back to the clan it's getting late" Rosetail meowed.
